Organization	No organization at all, random incomplete entries unidentifiable with specific experiments. Poor handwriting so that what is written is difficult to read.	Some organization. Entries appear broken into individual experiments. No clear organization of data within experiments. Difficult to assess completeness of record.	Entries clearly broken into individual experiments. Data complete and grouped together, but randomly arranged on the page. Entries are often messy or too tightly spaced to read easily.	Clear Organization. Data complete and grouped together.
